

Last week, US Citizenship and Immigration Services published a revised I-9 form. The most significant revision to the form is that five documents have been removed from the list of acceptable documents. These include: Certificate of U.S. Citizenship (Form N-560 or N-570); Certificate of Naturalization (Form N-550 or N-570); Alien Registration Receipt Card (Form I-151); the unexpired Reentry Permit (Form I-327); and the unexpired Refugee Travel Document (Form I-571). These forms were removed because they lack features to help deter counterfeiting, tampering, and fraud.

Additionally, the most recent version of the Employment Authorization Document (Form I-766) was added to List A of the List of Acceptable Documents on the revised form. Employers can begin using the revised Form I-9 immediately, although they will not be required to use the new form until formal notice is published in the Federal Register.

The revised I-9 form is available for download on the USCIS website here. USCIS has also published an updated “Handbook for Employers: Instructions for Completing the Form I-9” which is available here.
